Governor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, substance use disorders are a serious and treatable public health problem affecting millions of Americans of all ages, races, and ethnic backgrounds and having huge medical, societal, and economic costs; and

WHEREAS, stigma and discrimination can present obstacles to those with substance abuse disorders who need access to treatment facilities as well as those who wish to reestablish their place in the community; and

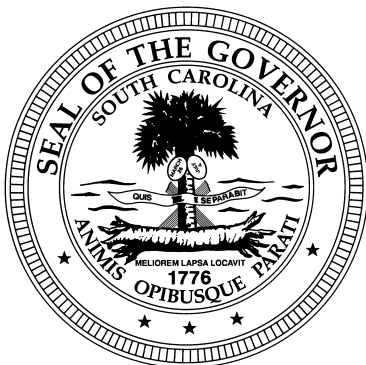

WHEREAS, educating our residents about the many ways substance use disorders affect children, families, and communities can help foster a better understanding of these disorders and the stigma associated with them; and

WHEREAS, with the theme, "Join the Voices for Recovery: Saving Lives, Saving Dollars," the 2007 observance of Alcohol and Drug Addiction Recovery Month calls attention to the positive impact of investing in treatment and recovery on individuals, families, and the community.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Mark Sanford, Governor of the Great State of South Carolina, do hereby proclaim September 2007 as
